ARCTIC.

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 24, 1874.

SENATE.

Petitions.

Mr. SCOTT presented a petition of citizens of Blair county, Pa., deprecating the re-enactment of the duty on tea and coffee. Referred.

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN presented a petition of citizens of New Jersey, asking for the passage of a law providing for 3 65-100 convertible bonds. Referred.

Mr. MORTON presented a petition of citizens of Indiana and Kentucky, asking that the law of Congress relative to bridges over the Ohio river be amended to require that bridges over the Ohio river shall have four hundred feet spans and a private draw of one hundred and sixty feet. Referred.

The New Financial Bill.

At the expiration of the morning hour, the Senate laid aside informaly the bill to equalize the distribution of the currency, and took up the new finance bill reported by Mr. Sherman from the Committee on Finance. The provisions of the new bill were explained by Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN said the bill reported yesterday and just taken up was not a satisfactory one, as it was in the nature of a compromise, and while it had the strength of a compromise, it had also with weakness of such a measure. There was a necessity for those on each side to yield their views some extent to others, and unless they should so yield, no bill could be chosen. There must be some middle ground agreed upon to make a bill satisfactory to all. It only remains for the Senate now to say if this was a fair compromise, whether it would improve our currency and give the relief demanded. He then had the bill read by sections, and explained the provisions of each. He said the United States notes at this moment are unconvertible, irredeemable and depreciated at the rate of twelve per cent. They had depreciated ever since their issue, at one time being worth only forty cents in gold, and were now worth only ninety cents. The committee had reported in favor of fixing the amount of United States notes at $382,000,000, that being the amount now outstanding, but he hoped it would soon be practicable to get back to $356,000,000 and recover the ground lost by the panic. The $382,000,000 had been fixed upon not because it was the best amount, but because it was the amount now in circulation. The time must come when these notes must be redeemed in coin, and something must be done looking to that end. He quoted the annual production of precious metals in this country, the coinage, &c., and said he was not prepared to say that any day could be fixed now for resumption.

After a lengthy discussion between Messrs. Thurman and Ferry (Mich.), the Senate went into executive session, and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

This memorial is signed by 20,000 persons, representing the Typographical Union and various trades and laboring societies of New York city.

After discussion the memorial was received and ordered to be printed, but not in the Record, and was referred to the Committee on Civil Service Reform.

Inter-State Railroad Commerce.

The House then proceeded to the discussion of the bill to regulate inter-State railroad commerce, and Mr. WILLARD (Vt.), made a constitutional and legal argument against the bill.

At the close of Mr. Willard's speech the House took a recess till 7:30. The evening session is to be devoted to the same subject.

BOSTON.

Balloting for a Successor to Senator Sumner.

BOSTON, March 24.—The House and Senate this afternoon respectively took an informal ballot for United States Senator to succeed the late Senator Sumner. The following is the vote in the House: E. R. Hoar, 90; B. R. Curtis, 63; John E. Sanford, 16; Governor Washburne, 2; Henry L. Dawes, 61; Charles F. Adams, 12; N. P. Banks, 5, and the rest scattering.

Senate—first and second ballots—Henry L. Dawes, 14; E. R. Hoar, 10; B. R. Curtis, 10; Charles F. Adams, 2; scattering, 1. Third ballot—H. L. Dawes, 17; B. R. Curtis, 10; E. R. Hoar, 8; C. F. Adams, 2; absent, 3.

The House, after one ballot, resumed its regular business.

The result does not indicate the speedy election of a United States Senator. The total vote in the Senate was 37, and in the House 235. Mr. Dawes led in the Senate and Judge Hoar in the House, but neither approached anywhere near a majority. A ballot will be taken at noon daily until a choice is made.

A caucus of Republican Senators was held this evening at the State House, and the United States Senatorship was talked over. An effort was made to have a caucus on Wednesday evening, but it was finally voted to hold another informal conference instead of a caucus.

NEW YORK.

Meeting of the Congregational Council.

The Plymouth Church Scandal to be Investigated.

Mass Meeting of Business Men on the Finance Question.

NEW YORK, March 24, 1874.

The Congregational Council.

The advisory council called by the Clinton avenue Congregational church and the Church of Pilgrims, Brooklyn, to settle the point of issue in the recent controversy with Plymouth church, held its first session this evening in Dr. Buddington's church. Of seventy-nine churches that have been asked to join the conference seventy-four have accepted, and sixty-eight of these have each sent their pastor and one other a delegate. Six churches will be represented only by their pastors. The council will also include several professors and doctors of divinity, who will not represent any particular church, and there will be in all about one hundred and sixty members. The meeting this evening was only for organization, and the conference will be practically opened to-morrow evening. It is reported that Plymouth church is to be admitted on condition that the investigation be so enlarged as to comprehend the entire scandal. Plymouth is evidently preparing to stand a stubborn siege. Private meetings of the church officers were held last evening and this morning in Mr. Beecher's parlors, but the doors were closed to the press reporters.

Mass Meeting on the Finance Question.

A mass meeting of business men of this city was held to-night in Cooper Institute to take action on the question of national finance. George Opdyke called the meeting to order, and William Cullen Bryant presided. Resolutions were adopted protesting against any inflation of the currency, and insisting that if Congress establish free banking, or authorize a further issue of national bank notes, the system be based on a solid foundation and guarded by restrictions, that the law requiring a banking reserve of 25 per cent. be maintained, and that one of its fundamental and irrevocable provisions shall be an efficient mode of redemption in coin.

A letter was read from Charles Francis Adams, in which he says: "It appears very unfortunate that the administration of the national finances should ever have been permitted to become entangled with a business having no proper connection therewith, the collection of the revenue and the precise disbursement of funds thus received being the legitimate duties of the Treasury. The power of Congress to deal with that subject is limited to the establishment of a form of coinage and regulating the value thereof. Congress transcended its authority when it assumed the right to issue promise-to-pay money, while it did not at the same time provide any means to pay. The Congressional fulmination of legal tenders was no more than rank absurdity. If a systematic effort to return to a specie basis is steadily carried out by any permanent measures, business will soon begin to assume the steadiness of support which it has not known for years, and which equivocating or false promises never can supply."

Col. [illegible] Allen read a list of Vice Presidents, comprising a large number of the most prominent business men of the city. Addresses were made by Edward Atkinson, of Bo[illegible] S. B. Chittenden, Geo. Opdyke and Wm. Wood.

PRAYER CRUSADE.

The War in New York.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Methodist ministers, in their regular weekly meetings, have taken strong ground against Rev. Dr. Crosby, who is regarded as a special advocate of temperance, and have adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we most emphatically pronounce the principle of total abstinence as the only personal safety, the only effective example, the only basis for a radical and permanently successful temperance movement.

A large number of Methodist ministers have also adopted resolutions favoring the suppression of tippling houses, the weeding out from the churches of the drinking members and landlords of liquor saloons, and offer their hearty co operation to the women in anything that will drive out the demon rum.

The Crusade Gathering Strength in Dayton, Ohio.

DAYTON, March 24.—The crusade gathers strength daily. The women are working with untiring energy and invincible resolution. Since the 6th inst. four saloons have closed, but three hundred and two remain. There is no disorder of any kind. The women are pleasantly received at every point, though the saloonists who are visited four or five times daily do not regard it as a joke.

The Fight Renewed in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—The Woman's crusade against liquor was renewed in this city today. There were five bands of from fifteen to twenty ladies each on the street. At one time each band visited the places called upon by the preceding band. At many saloons they were refused admittance, and in consequence of the Mayor's proclamation were unable to hold services on the sidewalks in front of these places. The crowds that followed the ladies were small and everything passed off quietly. The saloon keepers generally have adopted the plan of refusing the crusaders admittance to their saloons. James Dunn, proprietor of the Lake Shore House, signed the pledge to day to not sell intoxicating liquers for sixty days. This is the first signature to the dealers' pledge obtained in this city.

The Crusaders "Peppered" in Jeffersonville, Ind.

JEFFERSONVILLE, IND., March 24.—The crusaders of this city now separate in several bands and continue their work daily. Yesterday pepper was sprinkled on the pavement of Taussman's saloon. The ladies arrived and commenced their services on the pavement. Before they had finished they were all set to sneezing. So far no saloons have yet closed, and the excitement over the movement is rapidly dying out.

STATE NEWS.

MRS. GEORGE W. BOTTORF, of Bradford township, Clearfield county, has a chicken eighteen years old, and it is still able for its regular day's work—one egg each day. Fowls like this are suggestive of "spring chickens and waffles."

MR. WM. MCLEAN, ESQ., of South Shenango township, Crawford county, has sold his magnificent farm in that township, consisting of 300 acres, with first class improvements, for the sum of seventeen thousand dollars. He moves South.

ON Monday of last week a boy aged 13, working in the Reading Cotton Mill, attempted to put a belt on a pulley, when his leg was caught and head downward he swung around at the rate of 165 revolutions a minute, his head striking against the ceiling and crushing in on the back part up to the ears. His leg and hip were also broken.

ON Wednesday last the counsel in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. E. Udderzook appeared before the Judges of the Supreme Court, when the latter, after consultation, said that they would appoint Thursday, May 28, when the Court will be sitting at Harrisburg for the hearing of the case. They might probably not be able to hear it on that day, but the counsel must be ready at that time.

THE woods on the property of Jacob Jones, of West Whiteland township, Chester county, was set on fire by a spark from a passing engine on the Penn'a Railroad on Saturday last, and burned out the underbrush over eighteen acres, also burned seventy-five panels of post and rail fence on the property of Mrs. Ann Strickland, same township, and about 12 acres of wood belonging to Richard M. Thomas, same township.

THE CAPITAL.

David Reed Confirmed as District Attorney.

The House Engaged on the Cheap Transportation Bill.

Sanborn Contracts and District of Columbia Investigations.

The Howard Court of Inquiry.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, March 24, 1874.

Cheap Transportation.

The impression prevails here to night in Congressional circles that Mr. McCreery's cheap transportation bill cannot pass to morrow. They say that it places the whole control of the railroads in the hands of a Bureau of Commissioners, and is, therefore, objectionable. The House is in session to-night on the bill, and will meet to-morrow morning two hours earlier than usual, and will debate it until four o'clock P. M., when the previous question will be demanded, and the House will vote. The Western members are confident of the passage of the bill, or at least securing such a sense of the House that some such bill must go through this session.

DIAMOND.

WASHINGTON, March 20, 1874.

District of Columbia Investigation.

The District Investigation Committee this morning examined Thornton Smith, one of the unsuccessful bidders for concrete paving contracts. He testified that the pavement laid by C. E. Evans at Pennsylvania avenue and Madison Place was inferior to that in front of the Arlington Hotel, the latter being the required standard, although paid for at the same rate.

Franklin Mace, of Maryland, testified that Evans & Co. had not paid him the royalty claimed by him as owner of the Scharf pavement patent, and that the pavement laid by that company was composed of inferior material.

Louis Clephane was examined by the counsel for the memorialists, to show that he went on various contractors' bonds for amounts larger than the total value of his property at the time.

Howard Court of Inquiry.

The Howard court of inquiry to-day continued the hearing of General Bollock, a witness for the prosecution. The testimony principally related to the method of paying bounties to colored soldiers. The witness testified that no general rules had been adopted for this purpose, as each case received specific instructions General Howard supervised his action either by personal examination or by an inspection of the books at the end of each month, instead of approving all vouchers paid by General Bollock seriatim. General Howard, on account of the loss of his right arm, got permission from the Second Comptroller to approve abstracts of vouchers paid, which recited and described the vouchers, and accompanied them in many instances. General Bollock had vouchers sent to him receipted by the claimants before sending the money to sub-agents to make payments, and in some instances payments were not made because of not finding the claimants. The examination of General Bollock will be continued to-morrow.

The Sanborn Contracts.

The Committee on Ways and Means this morning gave a hearing in the Sanborn contract matter. Sanborn was present, attended by ex-Representative Woodbridge, of Vermont, as counsel, and stated that he had two witnesses present who could not remain another day in Washington, and requested the Committee first to hear them. The Committee then heard Jno. D. Coughlin, a member of the New York Legislature, who had been formerly Assistant Assessor of Internal Revenue of the city of New York, and is now acting under an agreement with Sanborn. Coughlin related minutely all the details of the work of collecting the legacy and succession tax, which was his specialty, and in regard to which he claimed to be an expert.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate has confirmed David Reed as United States Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania; Frederick Herman Schenck, of Indiana, Consul at Barcelona; Giles B. Overton, Receiver of Public Moneys at Salt Lake City; and Thomas E Burns, Collector of Internal Revenue in the Fourth District of Kentucky. The nomination of Thos. B. Van Duren as Consul at Kanagowa, which was confirmed a few days ago and laid aside on a motion to reconsider, was finally confirmed.

Deficiency Appropriation.

The House Committee on Appropriations today agreed to insert an item of $15,000 in the deficiency appropriation bill, to be used in carrying on the work of "food fish" propagation. The committee also had under consideration, and will probably grant, estimates of the Interior Department for appropriations needed to supply deficiencies in the amounts appropriated last year for the Indian service in Arizona and New Mexico.

American Enterprise in England.

LONDON, March 24.—Another band of journalists went on an excursion over the Midland Railroad in Pullman palace cars, and the London papers are enthusiastic over the new feature in English railway travel. The Times says everything fits closely and works smoothly. The eye falls everywhere upon mechanical contrivances of that ingenuity which we are accustomed to recognize and describe as American. Now that it has crossed the Atlantic, Pullman's enterprise will not be limited to England.

····McKeesport liquor sellers are now feeling the effects of the movement.

····A temperance society is to be organized this week by the ladies of the Bellefield Presbyterian church.

····The Committee on Fire Engines of Allegheny meet to-night to award the contract for a new hose carriage.

····The blank walls of the Penitentiary would be vastly improved by a generous growth of ivy. It would also be an advantage to the poor prisoners, on escape intent.

····A. Wilson Morris, Private Secretary to the Governor, has been selected as orator on the occasion of the G. A. R. reunion in this city on the 14th proximo.

····It will be very surprising if informations are not made to day against certain saloon-keepers on Smithfield street, where not far from the Central Station in the Diamond, one was open in full blast this morning at one o'clock.

····The revisors were in session yesterday but the Ninth Ward—the hearing of appeals from which was set for that occasion—failed to furnish the usual quota of grievances and an early adjournment was the pleasant consequence.

····Last night about nine o'clock a man was attacked in an oyster dive on Smithfield street, opposite the Postoffice, by three men, who gave him a pretty sound thrashing and kicking, but outside of bruising him a little, did him no material damage.

····The Fire Commission has contracted with the Amoskeag Company for an engine for the west end of the South Side. Out of deference to the tastes of residents of that part of the Thirty-fourth ward, known as Limerick, the new machine will be painted a beautiful emerald green.

····About seventy brakemen were on Saturday discharged from the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. We understand some eighteen freight trains have been taken off the road. It is further stated that a number of officials at Altoona and other points will receive their discharge.

····At a meeting of the members of Knap's Battery, held last night, resolutions were adopted in regard to the death of Fireman George Mullen, who was also a member of the company. Tribute was made to the worthy character of the deceased, and it was resolved to attend the funeral to-day in a body.

····The tendency is now toward the organization of district auxiliary associations of the W. T. U., and engaging in practical and systematic efforts toward the reformation of particular neighborhoods by residents thereof, in preference to the large central meetings heretofore held in the churches. It is thought by many that now is the time for energetic action in this particular.

····The appointment of commissioners to examine into the condition of the bituminous coal mines is a matter of considerable interest to the miners. Mr. Siner, one of the leading members of the fraternity, says that all the miners want is good men, and that if the Coal Exchange of Pittsburgh appoints such a man from here, he, speaking for himself, will support the appointee, and use all his efforts to have him successful.

····Marker Bush's sentiments on the Sunday ordinances, as given by a Leader interviewer—not the most reliable medium in the world, by the way—are to the effect that church trains, preaching for pay, street cars, Sunday newspaper work etc.; shall all be compelled to succumb to the inconvenience sought to be imposed on whiskey smash manufacturers. It is hoped the Liquor League will kindly permit our cooks to set up cold lunch on that day—providing of course when it isn't their Sunday out.

····Fifty-nine citizens residing along the line of Fifth avenue, have memorialized the Improvement Commissions of that thoroughfare relative to the leisurely manner in which the contractors are conducting the work and making sundry suggestions as to the best manner of bringing said contractors to a sense of their sins of omission and commission. The document is replete with left handed compliments shied at the wooden pavement men, Messrs. Barton & Keeny.

····The will of the late Rev. Dr. Elliott has been admitted to probate. He leaves sundry personal effects to his son, Dr. T. H. Elliott. To his daughters, Frances Elliott and Mrs. Lowes, certain lands in the State of Indian, and also eleven shares of stock in the First National Bank of Pittsburgh, and certain amounts of stock in the First National Bank of Washington, Pa. The document is dated September 22, 1871, and the testator appoints his son, Thos. H. Elliott, and David Elliott Lyon, as his executors. The witnesses are Dr. D. Hodge and Rev. S. J. Wilson.

····An Akron, Ohio, paper says: "Mr. J. Crankshaw, who stopped the selling of intoxicating liquors some time since, last Saturday night signed the pledge, never to sell another drop. All the stock he had on hand was this morning taken to the depot, and this afternoon sent to Pittsburgh." Mr. Crankshaw is probably a relative of the young woman who, during a revival season, suddenly awakened to the sin of bedizening herself with gimp gewgaws and trimmings generally. "I found my gay ribbons were dragging me down to the bad place," said the fair devotee, "so I gave them to my sister."

····The death by accident of the fireman yestersay on the South Side has occasioned the agitation in the department of the institution of a Mutual Aid Association. It is proposed to call a meeting of one member from each company and decide on some plan looking toward that end. The idea at present is for each of the one hundred and twelve members to contribute a small sum, to be agreed upon, and deposit the entire amount in a savings bank. In case of fatal accident to a fireman this sum with accrued interest will be due the wife or other dependant of deceased, and a subsequent assessment only be made when the first fund is drawn.

PERSONAL.

Captain John E. Michener, of Washington City, who was until recently an attache of the Postoffice Department, left the city yesterday for home after spending a few days here on business.

Mr. George Whaley who was, for a number of years, a conductor on the Connellsville railroad, has severed his connection with that company and will soon launch out in the grocery business in the Diamond.

Colonel Fricker is patiently waiting for the fair Temperance crusaders to open their batteries on him. He says he will receive them courteously, treat them well and will pray with them provided they pray his way.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

Brief Mention of Petty Criminalities.

JOHN EWING charges Robert Forse and Washington Joseph with aggravated assault and battery before Alderman Strain.

JOHN WOODS was jailed by Alderman O'Donnell yesterday on a charge of false pretense preferred by John Reitzwith.

ANDREW CUTHBERT is charged by Kate Kelly before Alderman Strain with pounding her and kicking through her door. A warrant was issued.

HENRY FROST is charged by T. N. Briggs before Alderman McMasters with larceny. In default of $300 bonds Frost has been jailed to answer.

BENJAMIN PAGE, David Moore and Charles O. Powell, recently sentenced by the Criminal Court, were transferred from the jail to the work house yesterday.

JULIUS PRAGER charges Jacob Ruffling before Alderman Hoerr, with felonious assault. Prager alleges that Ruffling went for him with a little hatchet and that scared him.

ALDERMAN KREHAN yesterday committed Joseph and Christopher Welser to prison to answer a charge of larceny preferred by D. K. Calhoun. Bail in $500 was demanded.

SIMON SHOOK, corner of Fifth avenue and Liberty streets is charged before Acting Mayor McMaster with selling liquor on Sunday and selling to minors. A warrrnt was issued.

MRS. CONWAY takes the championship belt for resistance to the "movement." She was jailed yesterday on charges of selling liquor on Sunday, selling without a license, and keeping a disorderly house—a rather good bad day's work for one female.

ALDERMAN MCMASTERS yesterday jailed Henry Frost in default of $300 for a hearing on a charge of robbing T. W. Briggs' hen roost. Mr. Frost is a gentleman who is alleged to have permitted his love for game rooster fighting crop out above the generally accepted ideas of the rights of property, as defined in the acts of assembly.

THOMAS SUNDAY alleges that his wife, Mary E. Sunday, is not a mild mannered female or an obedient spouse. But on the contrary, she kicks in the traces of wedded bliss, and now and then, takes it into her head to "put a head" on Thomas, to which the same, he demurs. He charges her with combing his hair with a poker, and his sister in law, Ellen Alexander, with assisting her in the shape of pounding him with her fists. Alderman Strain issued warrants in both cases.

"CRUSADING."

Speculating Saloon Keepers.

The block committee recently appointed by a temperance meeting of the ladies of Allegheny yesterday went to work in earnest to canvass the lower part of the city to the end that they might procure promises from saloon keepers to abandon the business of selling intoxicating liquor. All the dram shops on Beaver avenue and for the squares east of it were visited, but so far as we could learn, without desirable results. As a rule the ladies were well received—though in a few cases is stated the proprietors were enclined to be discourteous. A few of them were willing to shut down on the traffic, but these were evidently among the number that were not doing a very rushing business and sought to dispose of their beggarly account of bad whisky at a speculative advance. No doubt a large majority of them on this side of the river would be willing to sell out on similar terms.

FIREMAN KILLED.

Sad Accident to an Efficient Member of the Fire Department on the South Side.

Yesterday morning a sad and fatal accident occurred to a worthy and efficient fireman on the South Side. Between nine and ten o'clock a clerk went down into the cellar of William Buechling's drug store on Carson, near Twelfth street, to fill a can with benzine. The gas from the fluid ignited by coming in contact with the flame of a lighted candle he had with him. With rare presence of mind, he threw the burning can into the street and thus prevented a fire of serious consequences there. His foresight, however, did not prevent some one from pulling box 134, and the alarm having been sounded, as is usual, the Fire Department responded with alacrity. The Walton Hook and Ladder Truck Company was one of the first to respond on this, George McMullin though a member of the engine company, asked leave to ride, which was granted, because he expressed a fear of riding on the hose carriage. The truck proceeded down Sarah to Seventeenth, and in turning the corner of Carson street, the wheels of the vehicle became lodged between the culvert and the track of the street railway and the truck was upset. There were seven men on it at the time, six of whom jumped off, but poor McMullen clung to the ladders and when the truck went over the hub of one of the wheels fell upon him, crushing his breast, and a ladder broke the unfortunate fireman's arms and legs. Another man, Kelley, who had charge of the "tiller," was also bruised badly, but not dangerously hurt. McMullen was carried into a saloon near by, but he only lingered a short time and died from his injuries.

Kelly was able to attend to his duties, after having properly attended to the dead man. Coroner McCallin held an inquest, when a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

McMullen, who was an efficient fireman, was well liked. He was thirty-four years of age, and leaves a widow and three children.

It is said at the point where the truck went over, the rails of the railway company are way below the street, and that it is a dangerous place and has been for sometime past, and that the culvert covers are sunken and loose, and that it, too, needs repairing.

THE LAST SPIKE.

Completion of the Low Grade Branch Railroad—Another Important Feeder for the Allegheny Valley.

A dispatch received in this city yesterday afternoon from Col. J. J. Lawrence, General Superintendent of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, from Driftwood, states that the last spike connecting the track of the eastern extension of the Allegheny Valley Railroad known as the Low Grade Railroad, was driven at 1 o'clock P. M., Tuesday. The line will be open for business on May 1st.

SPRING TERM.

Pittsburgh Female College.

The spring term at the Pittsburgh Female College will open this morning at nine o'clock. Pupils who desire to enter should make application at once to President Pershing. All former pupils should be on hand promptly, as it is especially desirable to have the classes arranged at once, in order that there may be no interruption in the studies later in the term.

During the past week workmen have been busily engaged in putting up the new organ purchased in Boston. They will complete their work in a few days, when the friends of the College will have an opportunity of judging of the great superiority of the instrument.

A Reputable Tobacco House.

Were it not that Messrs. R. & W. Jenkinson, manufacturers and wholesale dealers in tobacco of 287 Liberty street, have made unusual efforts to secure for their patrons an extensive and excellent assortment of goods in their line, it would be altogether unnecessary to mention their names to our readers, as their house is well and widely known to dealers. But they have on hand for the spring trade, such a selection of the very best brands of tobaccos and cigars, as must induce all those who have ever purchased from them, to purchase the more, and to commend their establishment to those seeking for extra good qualities, extended variety, liberal inducements, fair dealing and reasonable prices. To those about to look up their supplies, we say, be sure to call and examine the very elegant stock of Louisville and Virginia tobaccos, and the elegant and popular brands of fine cut chewing and cigars which can be furnished at 287 Liberty street.

BONDS at Frankfort 96½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¼.

THE HEN that does the small cackling for the Commercial managed to say "goody gracious," yesterday. It is improving.

THE Pittsburgh M. E. Conference closed its session yesterday. The appointments will be found in another part of this issue of the GAZETTE.

GENERAL NEGLEY is urging upon the proper committee at Washington the importance of making an appropriation for the new postoffice for this city.

THE belief is entertained in Washington that the bill which passed the House, increasing the legal tender circulation to $400,000,000, will also pass the Senate. So mote it be.

Is the Post entirely certain that all the statements contained in its petition to the Fifth avenue Commissioners were in it when the names signed to it were applied for? We think not.

WE congratulate the Democracy of this city. Their regular State Convention is to be held here during the late Spring. We shall have the pleasure of seeing them in full feather, therefore, and witness the little acts by which they achieve a nomination.

THE contest for the Massachusetts Senatorship will probably be decided to-day. Dawes and Hoar are the prominent candidates, the former representing the Butler interest, and the latter the "blue blood" element. So evenly are the chances balanced, that it is regarded as very uncertain which of the two will succeed.

THE counsel for the American Steamship Company are nearly ready to file an answer to Brady's claim for salvage for acting as commander of the Pennsylvania. They hold that he merely did his duty while the gale lasted, but acted mutinously in not resigning command to the third officer of the ship when the storm was over.

THE promotion accorded to Burriel, the Santiago official, who ordered the execution of the "Virginius" prisoners, is chiefly interesting here, as indicating the spirit of the present Government in Spain, and its views toward this country. Serrano represents, very evidently, an element unfriendly to this Government; and the appointment of Concha as Captain General, in place of Jouvellar, only confirms the general impression.

THE State fish-hatching house at Donegal, three miles from Marietta, has proved an entire success. Enough fish have been hatched to supply the eastern streams, and attention will soon be directed to those in the western part of the State. The principal difficulty in this consists in the fact that our rivers extend through several States, and it is proposed to supply our streams with such fish as remain near their hatching grounds. The State has employed but a small amount of money in developing its fisheries, but the enterprise has been very successful, as far as carried.

THE appointment of a new United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania was finally settled yesterday by the confirmation of the nomination of Mr. David Reed. The people of the district have reason to be rejoiced, that out of the complications thrown around the selection of a candidate to fill the vacancy, such an excellent representative of the higher talent of our bar has been secured. The past record of Mr. Reed is a guarantee that in his new relation he will give every satisfaction, and his fulfillment of the duties of the District Attorneyship will demonstrate that the selection was an eminently proper one.

THE Philadelphia Ledger criticises the street system in vogue in that city as vicious in that it secures the poorest pavements at the largest outlay of money. That of this city may be criticised as being largely experimental. We have patches of every description of pavement known, and it is rumored that the Telford and McAdam systems of road making are next to be tried for street purposes. If we are to follow out this experimental plan, would it not be well to select a street over which heavy teams pass, and award a certain portion of it to the representatives of every known system of pavement? When the pavements are down, let them be subjected for a year to the severest tests known, and the one that endures the service best, and develops most points of superiority, be selected for the city. The patent right for the city might be purchased, or a system of contracts entered into, which would result in giving us the best possible pavements at the smallest outlay of money.

THE action of the House of Representatives at Washington, coming, as it does, in advance of that of the Senate, may be accepted as indicating that the legal tender circulation of the country will be fixed at $400,000,000. Of this amount, $382,000,000 are in circulation, leaving $18,000,000 unissued,—or as a reserve. This, however, is an incidental feature of the currency question. The greater interest attaches to free banking, as if the law permitting and regulating this shall be liberally drawn, it will stand for years without probable necessity for alteration. The people have large faith in greenbacks, and despite the fictitious advance in the price of gold, it is entirely certain that $400,000,000 of these do not over-supply the country. The free banking system, as applied for, will rest upon United States bonds as a basis, and will work two forms of benefit,—draw back to this country its interest-bearing bonds, and utilize them as security for all the currency the country shall need. The volume will increase and lessen according to the demand. This may yet be adopted as part of our financial system.

THE progress being made in the construction of iron steamships in this State, indicates the period to be not far distant when we shall rival the Clyde builders. The first vessel of the kind was built many years ago at this port. The Delaware, now, has the precedence, and from along its banks have been launched, within a brief space, the vessels of the American Steamship line, one of which came safely through one of the most terrible Atlantic storms known for years. Still more recently, the Pacific Mail steamer was launched, and others are to speedily follow. If these vessels prove themselves to be strong and staunch, good sailers and easy sea-boats, we shall date from the present the substantial revival of our commercial marine,—the honors of New York shipyards being transferred to the shores of Pennsylvania. Should this industry prove successful, as we believe it will, we shall, ere long, regain our lost supremacy on the ocean. At the launch of the "Pennsylvania," New York journals were disposed to make sport, but now they treat respectfully the rising industry.

THE ASSESSMENTS.

It is very proper that owners of real estate should carefully investigate the change being made in the rate of assessments. If the changes proposed are fair and honest, they will bear the test of the most rigid examination, and commend themselves to the acceptance of all right-thinking persons. If they are wrong, the exposure, in a right and proper spirit of the errors committed, will lead to the abandonment of all that is really wrong. The GAZETTE is not identified with any combination whatever, but seeks to present the truth, simply, to its readers. As we understand it, the entire purpose of the new system of assessment is to conform with the requirements of law, and to cause the taxes to be assessed equally, in proportion to the actual wealth of the people. Controller Warner has urged for a year or more past, this very system, and the Commissioners and Revisors are seeking to give it effect in a way that is fair, kindly, and just. They propose to hold open the books for two months yet, and permit those who will to come and have all errors rectified. We do not imagine for a moment that any increase of city or county indebtedness is bound up in this movement. The city and county debts could be increased under the old assessments, just as readily as under the new. The truth is, the new system of assessments operates in favor of the poor, and compels the rich, those who are able to do so, to pay their due proportion of taxes. It is a well known and undeniable fact that the poor man's lot has been assessed much higher, proportionately, than the rich man's acres. And it is noticeable that the outcry comes, not from those in moderate circumstances, but rather from the comparatively wealthy. The GAZETTE property, which was assessed at $3,400 last year, is now assessed at $34,000—ten times the amount hitherto named. We offer this merely as an illustration of the working of the system. To all interested, we invite attention to the following points, which embrace the principles involved in the new method of assessment:

1. The design of the increase of assessments is to equalize valuation, and hence taxation. The greatest inequality has heretofore prevailed. It will at once be accepted as a fair proposition, that if one man's property is really worth $100,000, and another's is worth only $20,000—the person having the more valuable property should pay the most tax. And the only way to fairly ascertain, as a rule, the value of property is to have a person make oath to its present worth, at a fair sale.

2. The increase of valuation does not increase the amount of tax. On the contrary the people will, it is claimed by the Commissioners, pay a less amount of tax under the present system of valuation. The explanation is as follows: Last year property was taxed at 12 mills on the dollar; this year, it will be taxed at 1½ mills on the dollar. Hence, unless the valuation is more than eight times in excess of what it was last year, the tax will be unchanged. The Commissioners' books show that the average increase is less than eight times, and hence the tax will be reduced.

3. The reason for the present system is found in the fact that the law makes it imperative. The Assessor takes oath: "That you will justly and honestly, to the best of your judgment, assess and value every separate lot, piece, or tract of land, with the improvements thereon, and all personal property made taxable by the laws of this Commonwealth, within your district, at the rate or price which the same would sell for, if sold singly and separately at a bona fide sale, after full public notice." The law also expressly stipulates "that the Commissioners shall raise the valuation of property, when they have reason to believe it is assessed too low, or may reduce it when they think it is too high." Thus it is obligatory on the Commissioners to make the assessments conform to the valuation of property.

We are informed that the suspicion is entertained that the motive that underlies this increased assessment of values, is to draw on it next year for a larger tax, with the view of building a new Court House. This cannot be done without an act of the Legislature, authorizing it. We do not believe that any Republican can be induced to propose such a measure. If it is done, we pledge our most energetic efforts to defeat it, and to defeat the re-election of any person who may propose it. And we will also be ready, at any moment, to expose and denounce any scheme of jobbery that shall look toward an increase of taxation, as the result of the new system of assessments. We have no suspicion, nor any reason for believing, that an increase of taxes will result, either now or hereafter, from the new assessments.

These statements being correct, the only point involved is that of possible error. We are ready to admit the possibility of error, on the part of Assessors, Commissioners, or Revisors. If, however, any person thinks himself wronged, he is not compelled to submit. He can appeal his case, and the Courts will finally determine. We have carefully noticed the reports of cases as they have appeared. The record shows that where a person makes affidavit that his property is only worth a given sum, his sworn statement is generally accepted. There have been a few cases where other testimony has served to rectify the statements of owners, but as a rule, the sworn value, as given by the possessor of the property, is accepted.

The impression is being created that there is a scheme to raise taxes, create debt, build a new Court House, and do many wild and impossible things, on the basis of this new assessment. We do not believe a word of it,—and there is no necessity for an increased assessment for any such purpose. The taxes must be made to meet current expenses; debts can be increased under the old assessment. To build a Court House requires legislation, and this cannot be had. In brief, there are two plain and simple objects aimed at,—the enforcement of a positive legal requirement; and the equalization of taxation,—so that all shall pay in proportion to wealth. We do not believe there is a shadow of corruption, or a desire to be unfair.

PERSONAL.

REV. CANON CHARLES KINGSLEY will summer at Colorado Springs, Colorado, resting after his lecture tour a month or so before returning to England.

MRS. MARY CAMERON, the estimable wife of J. D. Cameron, Esq., after a long and very painful period of suffering, died at the family mansion at Harrisburg, on Monday.

DR. CARL SCHENCK, the new President of Switzerland, was, until middle aged, an obscure pastor. Besides being a learned theologian, he is a writer upon political economy.

ALL of the latest advices from Minnesota are united in declaring Indian Commissioner Smith completely innocent of all dishonesty in the famous pine lands transaction.

MRS. WORTH, of Westfield, tried to sneeze in company, and acquired a permanent paralysis of the muscles of her face. The amount of sneezing now done during church service in Westfield is prodigious.

THE Emperor of Morocco is to visit England next summer. He has become infected with the spirit of progress and wants to see the marvels of European civilization. A firm of London engineers are now negotiating with the Emperor in reference to the introduction of railways into Morocco.

ADELINA PATTI'S last benefit at the Grand Theater, St. Petersburg, was a brilliant affair. A diamond coronal and great bouquets and wreaths without number were presented between the acts, and at the conclusion of the opera the stage was literally heaped with flowers and wreaths. Attendants had come on with baskets, and even then had hard work to clear the stage. The opera was "La Traviata."

LAUNT THOMPSON'S statue of General Winfield Scott, intended for the grounds of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home at Washington, is now on exhibition in Philadelphia. It represents the General standing erect, with one hand in the breast of his coat, and the other upon his sword, wearing the uniform of a Lieutenant General, and with a military cloak thrown over the shoulders and tied carelessly in front.

IT IS rarely that the obituary poet strikes so deeply down to the innermost recesses of our nature as in the following tear-compelling lines on the death of the "spoiled child of the family:"

Dearest Clara, gone before us—
Oft she clawed, and bit, and tore us,
Oft she ripped around and o'er us,
As she'll never rip no more.
Gone at last to join the chorus—
Gone unto the shining shore,
Leaving us forevermore
Scratched and bitten, sick and sore.

JOHN JONES' NEW LEAF.

The Household Drudge Beautifully Transformed.

It was a dreary kitchen—the walls were dirty and smoky, the breakfast dishes stood on the table in the middle of the floor, the cooking stove was open, with kettles and pans on it, and cold ashes on its hearth, its sooty plates awry, a pot of dish water standing on top of the stove, and the broom and poker and tongs lay just where the little riders had left them when they were called to prepare for school. Johnny had gone off crying, and his whine could even then be heard coming up the hollow, in the direction of the school house. The milk had not been strained, and the flies were buzzing about it as they sat on the edges of the two brimming pails, sipping and rubbing their hands together in a satisfied way. The baby was teething and cross, and the one pair of hands that could have brought order out of this disorder were trying to soothe it.

Is it any wonder that tears were in the mother's eyes, as she cuddled her baby to her bosom, and walked across the floor trying to still its cries?

"O, dear, what a life! what a life!" said she; "I try to be patient and make the best of it, but it does seem hard!" Just as the babe was growing quiet, and as his little blue hands had fallen listlessly upon his bosom, a shadow fell across the doorway, and the husband entered, saying, "Jane, can you tell me what the children did with the hatchet yesterday?"

"It was out on the rock, behind Johnny's wagon last night," said she, speaking low, and gently laying the baby down in a bed that had not been made up yet."

"Seems to me you're a good while gettin' your chores done; you haven't the knack of gettin' along like Mrs. Lovendike—her work is done up long ago, an' she's busy in the garden. Tell you, she's a nice garden; don't look much like our'n; you don't put the time on our'n that she does on her'n."

"Oh, John," said the little woman, slipping back her sleeves and tying on a big apron, and trying to keep her face turned away to hide the gathering tears, "with four little children and baby sick, and three sows to milk, and calves to feed, and hands to cook for, and all the other work to do, I only wonder that I get half my chores done in a whole day."

"Well, I'm sure I don't see how it is," said he; "my mother had ten living children, and she managed to get along first-rate, and do all our own weaving, besides taking in weaving for the neighbors. You have more room than she had, and you don't have to carry water forty rods, like she had—here it is right at the foot of the hill; and you never have to cut your own fire-wood, unless it is in the midst of harvest, and I think you shouldn't complain. If there is anything I hate to hear, it is a growling, whining wife. Now I have to be out o' doors all the time, no matter how hot the sun shines, or how cold the wind blows, while you are in the shade and comfortable—if you only knew it. Ah, you have an easy time of it, you women, if you only knew it; so, cheer up. I married you for a helpmate, don't you know? The girls will be big enough in three or four years to help you, and then you can take times easier, and maybe by that time the bottom farm will be paid for, and we'll be able to ride in a carriage like the Leyondikes.

"How long since you brought in this water?" said he, as he took a drink from the tin dipper, and finding it not fresh he squirted it out coolly on the flour among some pans that had slipped down off a shelf.

As he took the hatchet and started out to the hay wagon to fix the hay rigging on it, he said, "Jane, if you can as well as not, sposin' you have some o' them new beans that grow in that fur lot for dinner?"

"Well, I'll try," said she hopelessly, as she slipped her shoes off so she might step softly and with more comfort. All we working women know what a task it is to bring a disordered kitchen into neatness, especially when little children have been about. First she strained the milk, saving one quart, with which to mix the bread, for the yeast was set the night before, and had been bubbling two hours; she mixed it and set it in the warm sunshine, and then started a fire and made feed of skim milk and meal for the noisy, frolicsome calves that ran in the dooryard. Then she swept and picked up playthings after the children, hung up their coats and aprons, and set their old shoes away, and moved their sleds and wagons from about the doors.

While the dish water was heating she hurried up stairs and made the beds; then washed the dishes, and went down cellar and skimmed the milk. There was cream enough for a churning; the churn was scalded, and then left with a pail of cold water standing in it, so as to be fresh and ready. By this time the baby woke and cried, and the tired little mother was compelled to sit down and take him in her sheltering arms.

In half an hour or so he was ready to sit down on the floor on a quilt, and she left him long enough to carry three or four pails of the skimmed milk to the pigs—two pailsful at a time, and she went on the run. She always fed the pigs; when she asked her husband once to carry the milk to the pen, on his way out to his work, he said, "That belongs to a woman's work; a man whose name is put up for commissioner shouldn't be asked to slop the pigs—that's a little too steep."

It was no trifling job to feed those pigs; the pen had been made out of some old house logs, and the opening through which the pails had to be lifted before they could be emptied was so high up that it just came even with her neck, and was only wide enough to admit the pail with the pail lying down. Twice when she was dressed up clean had the unsteadily poised pail tipped back and poured the contents upon her, from her neck down to her little feet, as by a water spout.

Withal the little mother was quite patient, and almost every day could her untrained voice be heard, even down to the lower field and the schoolhouse, singing: "A Charge to Keep I have;" or "God Moves in a Mysterious Way."

But before another year a change came. The strong, hard man, her husband, was stricken down with typhoid fever, and for long weary weeks he lay balancing between life and death. His recovery was very slow, and his confinement irksome; no prison walls could have been gloomier than were the home walls that held him a prisoner. Day after day the patter of his wife's patient little feet fell upon his ear; he could hear them up stairs and down, now here, now there, her voice always kind and tender, her hand ever ready to minister to her dear ones, her words full of consolation, and love, and cheer.

John Jones was not wholly unimpressible; slowly the scales fell from his eyes, the light came, and he was one as born into a higher and better life. He drew his bony hands across his eyes; often the sobs made him catch his breath suspiciously, and he marvelled much that he had walked beside this little woman for fourteen years and not known that he was mated with an "angel unaware." His voice grew softer, tenderer; his great talony hands touched her forehead and her hair lovingly, as would a woman's—touched her as though he was afraid she would fade away a white mist.

Weeks afterwards, when he was able to ride out, the old whimsical buggy that had done good service in the days of his churchgoing parents, was made comfortable by a soft woolen blanket and an armful of sweet smelling oat straw. John didn't tell where he was going, but he looked wise, and his mouth had a perky look about the corner that seemed to say: "Just let me alone, I know what I'm about!"

It was evening when he came home. He was still as wise as when he went away. His cup of tea was waiting, and his toast and the tender little pullet fried nice and brown. He seemed really happy—jolly. He trotted the baby on his foot that night, and he called his wife "Jenny," as in the days when he won her, and he let Johnny play horse with his boots, and there was such a contented, rich-man expression in his face, that his wife couldn't help wondering what had made such a change in him.

The next morning the crazy old rig was called out again, and the soft blanket spread in it, and John Jones took the lines in his emaciated hands and drove off in the same direction as he did the day before.

When he returned, he was accompanied by a broad shouldered, good looking German girl, whom he introduced to his wife as "our girl."

She looked with amazement upon "our girl," and then stared at John. He soon explained things to her satisfaction.

"The upshot o' the matter is, Jane, that I've abused you long enough; the Lord helpin' me, I'll never see you make a drudge o' yourself ag'in. It's a burnin' shame for any great lout like me to expect a frail little body like you to be a man an' dog, an' wife, an' mother, an' nigger, an me savin' an' a hoardin' up money an' means to leave to the Lord knows who. I beg your pardon, Jane; and now you'll tell this girl, Barbara Groetz, how you want things done, an' let her take your place an' work in your stid, an' you'll live hereafter like a human man's wife ort to."

By this time his speech was made, the poor weak fellow was blubbering like a whale. Poor little surprised wife! She flew to his neck and laid her head on his bosom, and cried like a baby as she said: "John Jones! you darling."

"No, not a bit of a darlin'; just an old bear, a regular old heathen, to sacrifice the best little woman under the sun, inch by inch, the way that's been goin' on for years an' years," snuffled he, as he fumbled over her face in an aimless, loving way.

Then "our girl," Barbara, went into Jane Jones' harness, and it fitted her to a fraction.

"Now we've turned over a new leaf, go and dress up, Jenny, bless you?" said the new convert.

So, with the memory of lang syne warming her heart, Jane unearthed her wedding dress in the afternoon, and put it on, with a pretty old-fashioned collar, and brushed out her nut brown hair that once upon a time curled beautifully. Perhaps she felt foolish and girlish, and out of her sphere, but she looked sweet enough to make up for all discrepancies.

She sat sewing, putting a new band on Ruby's new skirt, when the children came home from school. Her back was toward the door. Tom came to a dead halt as he stepped on the sill, and then ran round the lean-to to find his mother. No mother there, but the smiling, pinky-faced German girl, who was paring potatoes to bake for supper.

Tom bawled out: "Is mother dead? O, I want my mother!" and circled around the house and peeped in shyly with wet eyes.

Was that lady in a soft gray merino dress, wearing an embroidered collar and gold ear drops, his mother? That pretty woman! Surely it was, for Nettie was feeling of her face, and was sparkling over and saying: "Is this you, mother? Why, where have you been?"

"Oh, ma!" said Tom, holding her around the neck as though she might flit away the next minute; "why, where did you go, and when did you come back?"

Poor little ones, how proud they were of the household drudge in her new and beautiful transformation!

But this is not all. Before the first cold blast of Winter came, steps were taken to save and lighten the labors of the feminine portion of the farmer's household. An addition was built to the house, new siding was put on and painted white. New windows were added, and green blinds and spouting, and a big cistern close to the kitchen door, and a wide, long, roomy porch. Closets were put in all the rooms; the old verminy bedsteads split up and used for kindlings; new chairs were bought, including a new rocking and sewing chair for mother; a new sewing machine, that was a love of a friend; the door-yard was paled in, and the calves and colts kept where they belonged; and evergreen trees, and flowering shrubbery, and rose bushes, made beautiful the new yard. An easy chain pump took the place of the old moss-covered bucket that held as much as a churn. It was packed off to the barn to put clover seed in, and the heavy windlass was borne away forever from the little arms that had tugged at its ponderous weight with a sick weariness many and many a year. The big well rope made a nice swing under the oaks for Tom, Belle and chubby Harry.

Now that the no longer enslaved mother has leisure to mingle with her growing children as teacher, and companion, and friend, they grow more lovable and intelligent, and they cling to her like vines. They see so much in her to admire and emulate.

And John Jones? That spell of fever was the Aaron's rod that smote the rock of his soul and opened it for the out-gushing of love, and sympathy, and charms, and graces of the human heart; and to-day, growing broader and ruddier, and riper, and better,—there lives no happier farmer than dear old renovated John Jones.

A STRANGE STORY.

A Tragic Narrative of Facts.

The heirs of two brothers, named Jacques and Francois Lefevre, have, through their attorney, presented a memorial to the Indiana Senate, which reads more like an epitome of a tragic romance than a narrative of actual facts. Jacques Lefevre came to this country about the year 1830, and settled in Lawrence county, Indiana, near St. Francisville, on the banks of the Wabash. For fifteen years he toiled industriously on his farm, chopping wood and selling it for fuel to passing steamboats. In 1845 he was murdered—shot while standing near his woodpile waiting for an approaching steamer. An inquest was held, but the mystery of the assassination was not solved, and the incident gradually dropped out of the recollection of the people in the neighborhood. Eight years later Francois Lefevre came over from France to collect what might be due the estate of his brother, and to live on his farm; but a few months after his arrival he, too, was shot on precisely the same spot where his brother fell, and his murderer was never apprehended, nor any clew obtained concerning his identity. The Lefevre estate consisted of seventy-three acres, and since Jacques was shot, although the farm has produced nothing, the taxes have been regularly paid by the heirs. They have repeatedly endeavored to sell the land since the murder of Francois, but notwithstanding the fact that it was offered as low as $2.50 an acre, nobody could be found willing to risk his life by taking up his abode on the ill-omened place. For this reason the heirs petition the Legislature to accept the Lefevre estate on behalf of the Commonwealth, to be devoted to any public use for the benefit of the county of Lawrence, on condition that the same shall be known "as The Bloody Field, or by any other appropriate denomination, reminding the actual generation of the impunity somewhat inexplicable of a double murder under more inexplicable circumstances, at eight years' interval." They also ask that the sum of the taxes paid on the estate from 1845 to the present time may be reimbursed to them, and a bill drawn in the interest of the petitioners is now before the Indiana Senate for its action thereon.

FILLMORE.

Letter from William Lloyd Garrison.

William Lloyd Garrison writes a letter to the Boston Journal setting forth at length the Massachusetts Legislature's "act of flagrant inconsistency and shameful laudation" in adopting the resolution it did upon the death of ex-President Fillmore. In the course of his letter, he says:

Can there be a greater affront shown to the memory of Mr. Sumner than the unanimous adoption by the Massachusetts Legislature of the laudatory resolutions respecting Mr. Fillmore? That body made haste to rescind certain resolutions passed by a former Legislature, unjustly impeaching the motives of Mr. Sumner concerning the battle-flags of the country. It can confer additional honor upon his memory and purge itself of an utter disregard of all the principles of freedom only by promptly rescinding its own resolutions in lavish praise of Mr. Fillmore and his evil administration. "The memory of the just is blessed, but the name of the wicked shall rot." Those resolutions are equally undeserved and untruthful. The people of Massachusetts—regenerated Massachusetts—did not "receive with profound sensibility" the intelligence of Fillmore's death; they had not a single heart-throb awakened by it; they do not consider him entitled to "the affectionate remembrance of the American people," or to "an honorable place in the long line of their illustrious public servants." In all this they are shockingly misrepresented. But their grief at the loss of Charles Sumner is real and profound, and matched only by their exalted appreciation of what he attempted and achieved in the service of his country and the cause of all mankind. "Honor to whom honor is due."

test Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 25, 1874.

he movements in Congress, looking to an ation of the currency, have exerted a per tible influence on the stock market, but are yet felt in the general financial movements he country. In this city there is compara quiet, and the dullness which has prevailed exists. The basis of this quiet is entirely ficial, depending on the lack of confidence erally prevailing. Once the volume of cur y is fixed, and this uncertainty will probably away at once, and business become active. he approach of the first of April settlements urally exerts a hardening tendency on money, once over, this will contribute to the gener nancial ease.

Vm. Cullen Bryant, Esq., presided at the lic meeting held at the Cooper Institute on sday evening, to urge Congress to take dy action upon the financial question. ong the gentlemen who accepted invitations e present are, Hon. Lyman Trumbull, Hon. F. Adams, Hon. O. H. Browning, formerly retary of the Treasury, Hon. Wm. M. Evarts, vard Atkinson, James M. Forbes, of Boston, Judge Hoodley, of Ohio.

omptroller Green, of New York, has award the seven per cent. consolidated stock of the y to all parties whose bids reached 103 50 and vards.

onsiderable interest is manifested in the pos e success of the late entertainment to Con s, at the launch of another Pacific Mail amship, in the way of securing a renewal of subsidy. The Steamship Company is involv in troubles, in consequence of its recent act in starting Pacific steamers from Panama, making San Francisco only a way station. ifornia hostility has been thus aroused, and a g Pacific Coast influence against the re al of the subsidy is developed. With this es out a scheme for a new line of steamers n San Francisco to Japan, to run in connec with the Union Pacific Railroad, and to e with it a contract for a term of years, the mers to connect with their through trains n New York, and thus secure the through senger business.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 24, 1874.

The markets, as a general thing, are dull, at least they are so reported; trade is evidently picking up slightly, and hopes are entertained that, with the advent of fine weather and the currency question settled, there will be a general revival in business. The country, as a rule, is bare of goods, and it is almost certain that as soon as the country roads get into better condition there will be a largely increased country trade.

APPLES—Continue in light supply, and we can report regular sales at $4@5 for fair to prime.

APPLE BUTTER—65 to 75c ₩ gallon.

BEANS—The market is well stocked, but prices remain about as last quoted, ranging from $2 to $2¾ ₩ bushel.

BUTTER—The inquiry has fallen off very considerably within the past few days, and the market is weak and drooping; sales reported at 37 to 40 for prime to choice, a decline of fully five cents per pound, as compared with this day week.

CRANBERRIES—$14@17 ₩ brl.

COUNTRY BACON AND LARD—Shoulders, 6@7; Ribbed Sides, 7@7½; Clear Sides, 8@8½; Hams, 9½@10½. Country Lard, 8@9.

CHEESE—There is a fair demand for good stock, but prices remain unchanged; prime Ohio, 17@17½; New York, 18@18½; Sweitzer, 15@18, as to quality.

DRIED FRUIT—There is but little inquiry, and the market is generally reported dull and unchanged. Apples, 9 to 10. Peaches, 14 to 15, for halves.

EGGS—There was a rather firmer feeling in the market to day; dealers generally seemed to be very strongly impressed with the belief that the lowest notch has been reached, hence there was not the same anxiety to sell that there has been for some days past. Commission merchants generally quoted at 14 to 15c.

FLOUR—There is a fair local trade, but there has been no recent change in prices. We continue to quote at $6 75@7.25 for spring wheat flours; $7.75@8.25 for red winter wheat, and $9@10 for white. Rye Flour, $5.50@5.75.

GRAIN—The demand for Wheat continues very meagre, and notwithstanding stocks are light as are also the offerings, prices are barely maintained; we contnue to quote red winter at $1.50@1.55, and white at $1.60@1.65. Ear Corn continues scarce and may be quoted firm at 72@75—we did hear of some sales at 80, but this, for the present, is an outside figure, and is above the market. Shelled Corn is in light supply, but unchanged at 73@75. Rye is dull, as some of the distillers have stopped buying and prices are lower; we now quote at 95@$1. The Oat market is easier under the influence of increased receipts, but prices remain about as last quoted, ranging from 55@57—we were reported a sale of one car at 56. There is no movement in Barley, and in the absence of sales, we omit quotations.

GROCERIES—Coffee stiffened up a little at the close of last week, and for a time, it looked as if the market was about to take a turn upward, but since then several cargoes have arrived and been placed on the market, hence the feeling is again weaker, although there has been during the time in question, no quotable change in prices. A strong effort is being made in New York to sustain the market, but how it will turn out, whether it will be a success or a failure, it is impossible, of course, to foretell, but there is one thing certain, it is a big contract for any firm or even combination of firms to attempt to control the Coffee trade of the country. Sugars, Molasses and Syrups continue quiet and unchanged.

SUGARS.—Patent Cut Loaf, 12¾; Crushed, Powdered and Granulated, 11¾; Standard A, 10⅞; B, 10; Ex. C, 9⅝; Circle C, 9⅝; Franklin Extra C, 9⅜; Franklin No. 2 Extra C, 9⅜; American Extra C, 9; Yellow Sugars, 8 to 9, as to quality.

COFFEE.—Choice Rio, 30@31; good to prime, 29@30; fair, 27@28. Roasted 1 pound packages, 30@31; loose, 29⅜@30⅜.

MOLASSES—Strictly prime new crop New Orleans, 80c; fair to prime old, 70@75.

SYRUPS—Extra White Drips, 70c; Sugar Drips, 60c; Amber, 60@65; lower grades, 35@40, as to quality.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 9⅜; Patna, 8⅜c; Rangoon, 8@8⅜c.

HAY—Loose sold from country wagons in Allegheny to-day at $22 to $30 ₩ ton, according to quality and condition, and the offerings were larger than for some time past, footing up about 80 loads. Baled is quotable at from $18 to $23.

HOMINY—Is in light supply but unchanged; $5 per brl. to the trade, and $5.50 in a jobbing way.

MILL FEED—Is very stiff, as the supply is scarcely equal to the demand, and prices are tending upward. Bran, $1.10@1.15; Middlings, $1.40@$1.50. Oil Meal, $$1.90@2.

MAPLE SYRUP—Is still quotable at $1.40@1.50 for gallon jugs. Maple Sugar, in grain, 14@15.

ONIONS—$4.50@6.50 ₩ brl.

POTATOES—The market is, if anything, a shade firmer, but prices remain about as last quoted, ranging from $1.10 to 1.25 ₩ bushel by the carload, the outside figure for prime Peach Blows.

POULTRY—Live Chickens, 50@60c ₩ pair. Dressed, 12@13c ₩ lb. Dressed Turkeys, 15@17.

PROVISIONS—Extra Sugar Cured Hams, ₩ lb, 12⅜. Ex. Sugar Cured Shoulders, 9⅜; Sugar cured Breakfast Bacon, 12 cts. Extra Sugar Cured Dried Beef, 15⅜. Beef tongues, $7.50 ₩ dozen. Bacon Shoulders, per lb, 8c. Bacon Rib Sides, 9⅜c. Bacon Short Rib Sides, 9⅜c. Bacon Clear Rib Sides, 10c. Mess Pork, $16.50 per barrel. Refined Lard for summer use, in trcs, 10⅜c. Do, half bbls, 10⅜c. Do. bkts 11⅜. Do, in 3 lb, caddies, 11⅜c. Do in 5 lb, 12⅜c do. in 3 lb. pails 13⅜c ₩ pound. Do in 6 lb. pails, 13. Do in 5 lb. pails, 13⅜. Ham Sausage, 10c.

SEEDS—Clover Seed is still quoted at $5.75 ₩ bushel to the trade and $6 in a small way. Timothy dull at $3.15@3.25. Flax Seed steady at $2.25@2.30.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 24, 1874.

The market for Crude was somewhat excited to day, prices having run up to $1.70@1.75, according to pipe line, an advance of from 15 to 20c ₩ brl within the past 48 hours. It is estimated, we are not prepared to vouch for its correctness, that this advance is chargeable entirely to the bull movement, which it is alleged has been in progress in the producing regions ever since January; it is said that they will have a large amount of oil to take at the close of this month, contracted for when prices were much higher than those prevailing, and that they are anxious to screw prices up as high as possible. It strikes us, however, that the effect of this advance will be to drive legitimate buyers, who, at best, have not been very numerous of late, out of the market, and if so the movement in question must fail. Refined continues very quiet, and prices are nominally unchanged; we continue to quote March at 14⅜@14⅜, delivered in Philadelphia.

Barrels continue dull and prices are lower; we now quote city make at $1.65, and countries at $1.60.

New York Breadstuffs Market—Weekly Review.

NEW YORK, March 23.—This day week we left our Flour market quite dull and easier for most grades; since then we have had a more general inquiry but at lower figures for most grades, the lower prices submitted to inducing a more active demand. The more liberal arrivals, less favorable advices from Europe and material decline in Wheat have been the chief causes of the depression and further abatement in prices. The present state of the market, though very unsatisfactory to dealers and millers, is not at all surprising to us when we consider the fact of the great increase in the production at the North West, and that we have only one great foreign market to absorb this surplus where we have to compete with all the great grain producing countries in the world, and prices everywhere must conform to that market. The production of Flour in this country has increased in a far greater ratio than the consumption, hence if they expect to be successful, must be thoroughly well informed as to supply and probable demand. Since September 1st we have exported from this port more than the Flour we did the corresponding time last season, and have a stock on hand of about 240,000 brls, and although the business of the past six months has not proved as satisfactory as we could wish, still it might have been much worse. When we consider all the adverse circumstances, the great depression in all branches of industry, the uncertain state of the finances of the country, and the relatively higher prices of Wheat than for Flour here and in Europe—which our millers have to contend with—we could not well count on a better result. After the present month we look for a better state of things, as we do not count on anything like the same production at the North West, and with a speedy revival of trade which now seems probable, we look for more uniform prices and a healthy market. Most grades of Flour under $9 have declined, the depression the most noticeable in shipping grades. Winter Wheat brands have been in fair request and could only by sold by submitting to lower figures. The exports of the week are 31,844 brls against 14,329 brls the corresponding week last year.

Our wheat market the past week has been comparatively quiet, and the tone and spirit of the market unsatisfactory to holders. This change is due chiefly to the character of the Liverpool and London advices. A favorable change in the weather there, and liberal imports have caused a reaction, and the limits of orders thence have been reduced, and we have had few buyers in market even at the concession. This change in the features of our market and in the advices from Europe was quite unexpected, and was not fully warranted, as the exports from this country cannot fail to be moderate until May, as a larger proportion of the surplus wheat of the Northwest has been put into flour during the winter than we had anticipated; hence our surplus of wheat for export during the spring and summer months must be correspondingly diminished. This has in a great measure been overlooked, and is of far greater importance than is generally supposed. The local inquiry has proved moderate, our millers not being able to operate to any advantage, owing to the low prices current for the low grades of flour, and, with a moderate export trade, we have added slightly to our stock of spring, but of winter we have had very limited receipts, and hold no stock of moment. The movement of wheat at the West is moderate, and will continue so for some time to come, owing to the condition of the roads and the low prices current on the seaboard. Our advices from the winter wheat growing states are favorable for the crop from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, and Kentucky, the reports are highly satisfactory; the promise was never more favorable. From the Atlantic States the accounts are quite as good, and should we have no more cold weather, there is every reason to anticipate a gratifying return. Our exports of wheat and flour since September have been more than double that for the corresponding time for many years, hence at the present rate of depletion, our surplus will be exhausted ere midsummer. The decline in spring since our last has been 3@5c per bushel, the reduction the most noticeable in ordinary ungraded. Winter has ruled quiet, and 2@3c lower.—Tribune.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with 8 feet in the channel last evening. Four feet two inches reported in the Allegheny at Oil City, and six feet in the Monongahela at Brownsville. Clear and pleasant. Business fair.

The Exchange arrived from Cincinnati yesterday, with a good trip, and as will be seen by card, she is announced for a return trip, and will take her departure to-morrow evening.

The Carrie Brooks for Zanesville, departed, also the towboats Hawk, Bob Connell and Belle McGowen.

The Messenger arrived at Nashville from this port on Monday.

The Iron Mountain will positively take her departure for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-day. She will be followed by the Ironsides belonging to Gray's line.

Com. W. J. Kountz was in St. Louis at last accounts.

The Abe McDonald, Fearless, Wild Duck and Esperanza are among the first boats due. The two first named boats are due here this morning.

Captain S. B. Coulson expected to leave for St. Louis last evening.

The Fearless, we understand, will load for St. Louis after the Ironsides.

—Yesterday's Cincinnati Gazette contains the following: The obstacle in the way of the purchase by the Goverment of the Louisville and Portland canal having been removed, the pending suit for back taxes is to be withdrawn, and all becomes serene.——Col. C. W. Thomas has contracted with Captain David H. Silver to cover the boilers and pipes of the Susie Silver with felting. This process is said to save 20 ₩ cent. of fuel.——At Memphis, yesterday, the steamer Mary Boyd was bought at Marshal's sale for $5,100, by Major Busby, a former Director of the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company. The Fort Gibson was bought by J. C. Neeley, also a former Director, at $5,600.——The Thomas Dodsworth, Coal Valley, Samson No. 2 and Whale—the advance of the Pittsburgh coal fleet on the present rise—arrived yesterday afternoon.——The American Cannel Coal Company at Cannelton, Ind., have reduced the price of coal to 8c ₩ bushel.——The Tom. Farrow started up the river last evening with a tow of empty barges.——The Etna arrived Sunday night, and proceeded to Louisville with a barge of pig iron.——The R. W. Skillinger was expected in from Pittsburgh last night. She will return to-morrow.

—Thursday's New Orleans Republican says: John Britton, mate of the steamboat Ouachita Belle, for some reason, assailed George W. Kennedy, a lad near the head of Common street last evening, when a large number of people gathered around, some of the men rather excited. Officer Higgins fearing a further disturbance of the peace arrested Britton, and as he was moving with his prisoner, James Wilson slipped up behind and dealt Britton a heavy blow. On this Britton quickly turned drew his revolver and fired at the crowd. The bullet struck Henry Coleman, inflicting a wound that will probably prove fatal. The police sent him to the Charity Hospital. Wilson was arrested and locked up at the same time as Britton was. Britton is the man who several months ago shot Mayfield and was afterward reported dead. He appears pretty lively yet.

—The Sioux City Journal of the 20th says: The river is clear of ice at Yankton Agency and Fort Randall. The ice in the river at this place is expected to start on the move every minute. Probably we shall have no sudden and general break up this spring, as the warm weather and the current will wear away the ice. The river has come up about two inches a day for the past week, and is now only about 14 inches above low water mark. The steamer Nellie Peck has received her repairs, and will be launched as soon as the river breaks up. The Far West will receive her finishing touches this week.——Captain Ab. Shaw arrived in Yankton on time.

—The Gallipolis Journal says: There is still talk of a daylight packet between this city and Cincinnati. A responsible firm of Pittsburgh has offered to furnish the machinery if parties here will build the boat. It is proposed to make her 200 feet long and about 28 feet beam. She will have no upper cabin, being built after the model of the Katydid, and will cost complete somewhere in the neighborhood of $20,000. She is expected to make thirty miles an hour down stream. Such a boat would clean the passenger trade.

—The St. Louis Democrat of Sunday says: Business was good on the wharf and the weather fine. Arrivals and departures liberal with fair trips. Rates to New Orleans unchanged. Upper Mississippi rates are as low, it is believed as they ever were in high water. In the Missouri the general rate to Cambridge, 282 miles, is only ten cents per hundred pounds, and flour twelve and a half cents ₩ barrel. Of course no money can be made at such figures.

—The St. Louis Globe of Monday says: The meeting on board of Carroll's wharfboat yesterday afternoon was attended as fully as usual. Among many others Com. W. F. Davidson addressed the congregation, and entreated his steamboat friends to "flee from the wrath to come."

—The Ella, on her way from White River to Cincinnati with 457 bales of cotton, 758 sacks of seed and a lot of other freight, in making a landing on Black River the current threw her into the timber, which knocked her chimneys down. She arrived at Memphis last Friday and received a new pair.

—The Louisville Courier of Monday says: The Oakland arrived from New Orleans with a full tow of barges. She ascended the falls coming up the Indian chute, and passed up for Madison to be hauled out on the ways to have her chains tightened. She will return Wednesday, and leave for New Orleans with a tow of coal.

—Captain Jarvis made one trip up the river with the Artemus Lamb. It costs $70 per day to run her, and the Gazette says he is negotiating for a cheaper boat to run between Davenport and Clinton.

—The Dubuque Times says: The steamboat Rock Island is, we learn, to leave for a point down the river in a few days to be lengthened out and otherwise remodeled.

—The Wiggins' Ferry Company paid a city tax of thirteen thousand dollars to East St. Louis in 1873.

—The St. Paul Press reports the Mississippi rising there rapidly on Friday, but teams still crossing on the ice.

—At New Orleans Tom O'Donnell has libeled the steamer Selma, and S. S. Greenlee has done the same to the W. J. Behan and tug Nellie.

—The mate Britton was still in prison at New Orleans on Friday. Henry Coleman, the man he shot, has made his dying declaration.

—The Fontenelle, the first boat of the season for Fort Benton, left St. Louis Saturday.

Allegheny County Teachers Institute.

The Allegheny County Teachers Institute will hold its annual meeting in the Second U. P. church, Stockton avenue and Sandusky street, Allegheny, commencing Monday morning, March 30th, and ending Friday evening, April 3d. There will be three sessions each day, and the proceedings will comprise a sufficient mixture of debate, lectures, essays, etc., to give the instructive exercises a variety which will add to the interest of the occasion. The compulsory education laws in force in some countries, or a modification thereof will be discussed as will also the question: "Does the public school cause receive due encouragement from the ministry and the press?"

Sunday School Teaching.

The fifth, and by far most interesting, session of the "Normal Class" of Methodist Sunday School officers and teachers was held last night in the Liberty Street M. E. Church, Mr. Wm. J. Jackson in the chair. Devotional exercises conducted by Mr. T. J. Gillespie, of the Second United Presbyterian Church. A specimen lesson by James D. Carlisle, Esq., of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, was the feature of the evening. About two dozen of the little folks from the Infant Department of the Liberty Street Church were brought in by their regular teacher, Miss Mary Hunning, and arranged before Mr. Carlisle for the first time. Questions and answers, scriptural texts, analytical answers (simple but suggestive), singing, and much more was accomplished in the presence of the audience with a readiness and freedom from embarrassment quite astonishing. The following points were observable: Attention, naturalness, memory not overburdened, diversity, terse and clear questioning and answering, cheerfulness, thorough discipline.

Mr. Samuel W. Hay conducted the Normal exercises; topic—How to teach a lesson. The following rules were brought out: The teacher must hold the "mind" of the scholar if he would reach his heart; the "method" should be nothing, the "matter" everything; the object of teaching—to know the truth; the aim—to love the word; the end—to live in Christ.

Mr. Sidney Omohundro, of the Liberty street M. E. Church, briefly considered the subject—"The Training of our Scholars in Christian Experience and Work." The sixth session of the class, will be held at the same place, Tuesday evening, April 7. A programme of general public interest is promised.

A TEST CASE.

The Proprietor of the St. Johns Hotel Concludes to Try the Legality of the Liquor Law.

Yesterday morning officer John Eischelman made an information before Acting Mayor McMasters, charging John O'Donnell, proprietor of the St. Johns Hotel, on Seventh avenue, with keeping open after twelve o'clock and selling liquor. Mr. O'Donnell closed up at midnight, but opened up deliberately at twenty minutes past two in the morning, in order to be informed against, and will make this a test case. He allowed the matter to go to court, where, if found guilty, he will again appeal to the Supreme Court.

THE SPRING STYLES.

The New Importations at the Boston One Price Store.

The explanation of the great throngs which have moved along Smithfield street, within the past few days, is found in the fact that gentlemen were taking advantage of the fresh display of goods just being made at the Boston One Price Clothing Store, No. 95 Smithfield street. This house is not only famous for its marvelously low prices, but for the styles, which are up to the mark in every respect. The stock laid in for the spring season, and which is kept up by daily arrivals, is peculiarly distinguished for the elegance of the goods and the surprisingly low rates at which they are sold.

There is nothing of a shoddy character about these goods; they are just what they are represented, and are as good as can be had in any merchant tailoring establishment in town; but the prices are considerably lower.

Mr. Rossiter, takes especial pride in calling attention to the new Spring stock, and challenges a comparison of the goods, with the best; there could be no comparison of prices, for no one else has yet been able to offer such goods at anything near the rates that have made the Boston One Price Clothing Store famous. Call at 95 to get your Spring suit.

AN IRREGULAR WILL.

Equity Proceedings to Recover a Document.

Yesterday afternoon in the Common Pleas a bill in equity was filed, in which Edward P. Swift is plaintiff and Samuel Griffin defendant. It sets forth that plaintiff's wife, before her death, wrote a certain paper purporting to be a will, and, enclosing it in an envelope, gave it to him; that he offered it for probate, but, as the document was not witnessed as provided for in the act of assembly bearing on such cases, the Register refused it; that afterward the defendant, a brother of plaintiff's wife, requested the paper that he might exhibit it to his attorney, and it was given him with the express understanding that it would be returned if not probated; that it was neither probated nor returned, and that the paper is valuable to him, by reason of the associations connected with it, it being the only writing directed by deceased to complainant since their marriage, and as it also contained directions as to her will relative to their only child, and other words and instructions that make it of peculiar value to complainant, and, finally, as he is sole heir to his wife's personal property, he is entitled to the paper as such, and as sole administrator. The complainant therefore desires the court to interfere and compel defendant to deliver the document to him.

THE PENITENTIARY.

How they handle the question at Harrisburg.

Our legislators at Harrisburg are handling [illegible] of the Penitentiary removal, with [illegible]ness. Thus far they have man[illegible] along a little sop to each side. First the House appointed a committee "to carry out the ideas of the commission," which, translated, meant a removal.

The opponents of the institution as it now stands, were in the midst of rejoicing at this indication of speedy triumph, when their fervor was somewhat checked by a second action of the House in granting—as it did yesterday—$15,000 for the improvement of the "antiquated Bastile." This time the minority of the Comsion rejoices.

It is conceded, however, that the legislative battle thus far is undecided, with the advantage, perhaps, in favor of the minority of the Commission. Those who favor a removal say no special opposition was made to the appropriation, as even if a removal was eventually decided upon, the work could not be carried out in less than two or three years, and in the meantime the institution ought to be making money if possible. The other side contend that with the new improvements they will demonstrate the utter uselessness of spending money upon the removal. The matter is certainly beginning to assume an interesting phase.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Veeder.

Her many friends will be pained to learn of the death on Monday morning, the 24th inst. of Mary Jane, wife of Mr. Nicholas Veeder of Allegheny City, in the 42d year of her age. Mrs. Veeder belonged to a type of those admirable women in whom are exemplified at once the virtues and graces which benefit as well as adorn society. She was modest, unassuming, domestic, a dutiful wife, a tender and precious mother, a neighbor ever ready to extend sympathy and aid to the sick and poor. She was endowed with a fine and cultivated intellect, and took a lively interest in the School of Design for women and has herself executed some fine specimens of art. The loss of one so truly estimable in the prime of mature womanhood will not only be felt as irreparable by her stricken household but will be sincerely lamented by all who enjoyed her acquaintance.

MRS. D. W. INGALLS.

The announcement is also elsewhere made of the demise of Mrs. D. W. Ingalls. The sad event occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of her son, Rev. R. T. Miller, Temperanceville. It was not altogether unexpected, as the lady had attained to a ripe old age and had been in indifferent health for some time past. Mrs. Ingalls was the eldest daughter of the Rev. Joseph Wright of venerated memory, who was a member of the Pittsburgh Conference of the M. E. church. She was a lady of fine sensibilities, cultivated tastes, and sunny disposition; during an earthly pilgrimage, extending through so many years, she lived a life of Christian usefulness, that won for her general esteem, and makes her memory blessed to those by whom she was known.

ROAD COMMITTEE DOINGS.

Craft Avenue Extension and Routine Business Generally.

The Road Committee met yesterday afternoon in special session for the purpose of considering the report of the Sub-Committee on Francis street, Thirteenth ward.

Mr. Connelly, Chairman, reported that the Sub-Committee had visited the street and recommended that it should be filled at the rate offered by a contractor, namely, thirty cents per cubic yard.

Mr. Scully moved that the Sub-Committee of the First district be empowered to make the contract providing the cost be charged to their proportion of the road appropriation.

The fund devoted to roads for the year now beginning is $40,000, which was divided among the districts as follows: First, $11,750; Second, $13,500; Third, $14,750.

An ordinance was ordered to be drawn up and presented to councils provding for the opening of Craft avenue extension.

A paper was read signed by all the real estate holders on the avenue, agreeing to claim no damages for the property entered upon, thus rendering unnecessary the expense of viewing, etc.

Mr. Aull, moved that the Road Commissioners be instructed to notify the property holders on all paved streets in the thickly populated parts, to have the sidewalks paved within twenty days, and in case said property holders do not comply with the order the Commissioners shall pave the same and charge to the property.

An informal discussion on the merits of the Vanvoorhis scraper was had, but while its advantages were admitted, the Committee thought the patentee wanted too much money for the right to use it. One thousand dollars for each district was the owners proposition.

Adjourned.

THE TEMPERANCE TOPIC.

Another Meeting Yesterday—The Interest on the Increase—Decisive Measures Agreed Upon—"The Band of Promise."

The interest in the woman's temperance movement, seems to be considerably on the increase, as evidenced in the large meeting held in Rev. Dr. Frazier's (Third U. P.) church, on Diamond and Ross street, yesterday afternoon. The proceedings commenced by Mrs. Collins, the President, who called upon Rev. Dr. Frazier, who read the Tenth Psalm, after which Rev. Mr. Ellis led in prayer.

The Eighty-fourth Psalm, commencing at the eighth verse, was then sung.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

THE AUXILIARY BRANCHES.

The report of the Second ward, Allegheny, was read, and the organization of a branch to the Union in that district, with a full list of officers.

A letter from Mrs. Finley Torrens asking for the prayers of the meeting for an East End saloon-keeper was read and the request complied with. It was reported that Mount Washington had organized a "Band of Promise."

On Sunday evening a praying band of boys was organized in Rev. Dr. Hanna's Church, and on next Sunday a band of girls for the same purpose would be organized.

Reports of a branch organization on Liberty street in Wesley Chapel, and also a branch in the Presbyterian Church in East Liberty, were received.

Rev. Mr. Grimes, of Cadiz, Ohio, was introduced, and made a short address, giving some of the experiences of the work there. He believed that God was the mover in this great reform. He had spoken in the Legislature in Ohio. He had faith in God that this movement would succeed. $50,000,000 is the revenue of the Government from liquor, and $470,000,000 is spent for the poor caused by whisky. He wanted nothing to become a barrier to the ladies. Prayer was their weapon, which must bring success from the All-Omnipotent Power. The reverend gentlemen wanted them to pray on till the victory is accomplished. God bless you, and God's promises be the arguments in your mouth.

The first part of the Sixty-seventh Psalm was next sung.

A poem, written by Mr. T. A. House, telegraph editor of the Dispatch, entitled the "Rumseller's Vision," was read.

THE GROCERS.

The following resolution in regard to grocers was adopted:

Whereas, The sale of liquors is openly or coveredly carried on by many of the grocers of the two cities; therefore,

Resolved, That the members of this Association will purchase goods of no grocer who deals in liquors, or who will not openly avow himself in sympathy with the temperance cause.

Mrs. Youngson led in prayer.

Rev. Dr. Swift was then called upon, and spoke briefly. He thought the movement conferred a distinguishing honor upon the women. He thought the crisis was approaching, and he hoped was near at hand. The men ought to be excluded entirely. They were just waiting for the word of Jesus Christ and the descending of the Holy Ghost. The trouble in this county was inward—at home. "Put away all wrath." He thought the Lord was reserving this county for the last.

Three verses of the Sixty-second Psalm were sung, commencing "My Soul with Expection."

Rev. Mr. Pollock, of Wooster, Ohio, was called upon to speak. He said he felt what might be called here, as he had at the meetings in Wooster. He would only speak a few minutes. He had heard that this was a movement of God. But no one would understand the Faith thoroughly till they had seen the women work. He had observed in Xenia, where the ladies knelt on cold, cloudy days, rough men stood still and kept quiet, and no noise could be heard in the four parts of the city, except the clear, pure voice of prayer. There were the most modest women in the movement; and they carried their modesty with them as a sort of shield. No person realized that the Holy Spirit touched these women more than the rum seller did. Their courage was the grace of God. They did not pray for their sons or husbands who were going down to a drunkards' grave, but for the souls of the liquor seller. Was ever purer love shown? No; it was the pure spirit of Christ. Go forth in the name, the strength of Christ Jesus. He thought the ladies should go forward and ask no questions for God was the leader in this, and he would not delay them a day longer than necessary. Go! is the one single advice he gave the women, and offer the arm the liquor seller has so long defied.

Mrs. McMealy led in prayer, which was thoroughly earnest and impressive.

"Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was then sung by the congregation.

Rev. Dr. Howard then read a letter which he had received a few days ago from a very well known manufacturer in this city. This gentleman is deeply interested in every movement for the amelioration of his fellowmen. Accompanying this letter was a check for $200. There are men in business who do not appear here that say God bless the movement and those who are willing to help it. Such men as Wm. Thaw, Esq., and Dr. C. G. Hussey who sent words of cheer. He liked the word woman, it was such a grand word, but he liked ladies. The word woman, however, brings in the name with every great work. He believed the work was dignified, anything that was of the Maker was dignified. It is dignified to elevate your fellow-men and glorify the Father which is in Heaven. He believed in the hearts of the woman was the great secret of their success. The spirit of God dwelt with them. He did not want to speak of the beauty or smartness of a grandaughter. She is a little girl but three years old. This afternoon at dinner she somehow stammered out the beautiful words of the Scripture, "overcome evil with good." He implored the women to work; not to grow weary in well doing; to save young men, your sons, fathers and husbands. He had been trying to work in this cause for forty years, but he had enlisted for the war. He loved his fellow man. He loved the men who sold the liquor. They are men who do not think as we do, but they must be prayed for. They have not been brought up as we have. He felt sorry for them. He hated their traffic, and when he heard their profanity, he pitied them. He wanted to see wine abolished from the dinner table of the rich. He wanted the ladies to entreat these men to give this up. He knew many of them and knew them to be Christian men.

MRS. VAN HORN.

Mrs. Van Horn next spoke. She wanted the women to go forward and do the work. They were willing to take their life in their own hands and go in. They ought to do something more than sit in their comfortable churches and talk—they must go to work. She wanted a citizens' pledge, and she wanted it distributed. She wanted no druggists' or doctors' pledge, because she never employed a physician who prescribed liquor. She went down Fifth avenue Sunday to watch places, and she only found one place open, and a man came out with a cigar. Next Sunday she thought that place would be closed. She wanted them to go to work and visit the factories and foundries, and she for one was ready to fall in.

Mrs. Hill next spoke and exhorted the woman to continue in the good work.

VIOLATING LAW.

Mrs. William Herron offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the purpose of this Union, in its future movements that it shall violate no law.

Resolved, That a committee of not less than twenty be appointed to arrange plans for active operations and present the same at the meeting on Thursday next.

Mrs. McGaw said that they did not intend to violate any law.

Rev. Mr. Farris said that in answer to many questions, that this is not a law-breaking movement, and he believed the resolution would set a great question of interest at rest and draw many friends to the movement.

Mrs. Torrens wanted no such resolutions, they intended to accomplish their work.

The resolution on motion of Mrs. Hill was referred to the Executive Committee which meets on Saturday afternoon.

NOT SATISFIED.

Rev. Dr. Gill was in favor of a forward movement and he wanted to know if they were going. That this was the great question outside. He believed the ladies would not violate the law, but go forward. He understood the Manchester ladies had gone forward. He trusted that the second resolution would be acted on and reported on next Thursday evening in Allegheny or on Friday afternoon at the next meeting.

Mrs. Matchett moved a reconsideration of the resolution and spoke briefly and to the point. She had seen boys drunk, middle-aged and old men drunk. She wanted that Committee to be appointed now.

Mrs. Hill hoped that the impression would not go out that they intended to violate the law.

The motion to reconsider the resolutions was carried.

Dr. Howard thought the clerical brethren might get the ladies a little mixed if they were allowed to go on and talk so much.

MOVING ANOTHER REFERENCE.

Dr. Howard moved to refer the first resolution to the Executive Committee again, and they to report at next meeting.

Mrs. Torrens moved to lay it on the table. Carried.

The second resolution was then passed.

Mrs. McGaw suggested that before they adopted the resolution the President would see how many women were willing to work.

A LITTLE VEXED AT THE MEN.

Mrs. Hill was asked to read the resolution again. She said she was so excited that she could not read, because the men talked too much. This was a woman's meeting. The men were too officious.

The President called upon the women to rise who were willing to go to work right away. All the ladies rose in a body.

She called for those not ready. None responded. (Applause.)

The President called upon Rev. Mr. Dermitt to sing Mrs. Elster's "Rallying Hymn."

Mrs. Torrens wanted a Psalm, and the one hundred and twenty-first was sung.

Rev. Mr. Ormond wanted the ladies to move in a body now.

Mrs. Murphy said that the ladies had been invited to visit a man who drinks, in Sligo.

DRINKING CHURCH MEMBERS.

Miss Haller offered the following:

Whereas, We have in our churches many members who sell liquors—others who drink to excess; therefore,

Resolved, That we request our churches to aid our cause by having such members cease such work, or be known no more as members.

The resolution passed without a remark.

"BANDS OF PROMISE."

Miss Haller reported the ladies had decided to ask the Sunday school teachers and Superintendents on next Sunday to organize the children into "Bands of Promise" and get them to sign a pledge.

A vote of thanks was given to the gentleman who donated the check for $200.

There will be a meeting this afternoon at the Eighth U. P. church, on Locust and Van Braam streets (Rev. D. Sands).

The next meeting, after some discussion, on motion, was ordered to be held in the First Presbyterian church, on Arch street, below Ohio, Allegheny (Rev. Dr. Swift's).

The announcement of a temperance mass meeting to be held to-morrow evening in Rev. Dr. Gill's church, Allegheny, was made.

Rev. Dr. Frazier thought all the men had now to do was to bang to the skirts of the woman and hurrah. He was heartily in favor of the movement and in anything that it would accomplish. He believed he was the first temperance minister, practically, in the movement. He had given evidence in a liquor case before the Honorable Mayor this afternoon, which was brought by a policeman who had back-bone enough to make an information and had summoned him as a witness.

The ladies were requested to visit the Young Men's Home on Duquesne Way. They go this evening to pray.

After singing the Doxology, and pronouncing the Benediction by Rev. Dr. Frazier, the meeting adjourned.

Court of Common Pleas.

[Before Judge Stowe.]

Vichestain vs. the P. V. & C. Ry. Co., previously reported, the jury awarded plaintiff $425. The viewers had allowed $350, but an appeal with the result noted.

The Court was occupied the entire day in the trial of the case of Maria Louise McGonnigle and John A. McKee vs. Nettie A. McKee, action to recover a tract of land in Stowe township valued at $350,000. There are about six hundred acres in the plot, and the property is but a small portion of the estate to which Miss McKee became heiress about a year since. The early history of the litigation involves the following points:

James McKee, a resident of McKee-rocks died some years ago, leaving to his son, Thomas McKee, an immense amount of property. Thomas was married to Nancy Matthews, but at his death had no living issue from her. In 1852 he had living in his house a servant-girl, by whom he had a daughter, that daughter being the present Miss Annette Adelia McKee. In 1858 he had an act of assembly passed conferring upon the daughter all the rights of a child born in lawful wedlock. Last year Thomas died, leaving his entire possessions to her.

James McKee, the grandfather of the defendant, had another son also, Alexander McKee, the father of Mrs. McGonnegle and John A. McKee, the plaintiffs in this suit. They claim that the will of James McKee, under which his son Thomas became possessed of the property in question gave him only an estate entail, and hold that even if the daughter was of legitimate issue she was only entitled to half of the property.

There was no conflict in the testimony on the two sides—both agreeing on the point of fact and the whole case has resolved itself into one of legal points. Messrs. George P. Hamilton, Mark W. Acheson, G. H. Sprenl and Alfred Kerr appeared for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. George Shiras, Thomas M. Marshall, S. H. Geyer and Thomas M. Bayne for the defendants. The case was concluded and went to the jury but no verdict had been rendered up to late in the evening.

A DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

A Young German Ends His Life with a Load of Buck-Shot.

Last evening Coroner McCallin was summoned to hold an inquest on the body of Henry Oestel, who committed suicide in the bake house of Lewis Lobb, No. 128 Ohio street, Fourth ward, Allegheny. About one o'clock yesterday afternoon, Oestel went into the house and took a gun to fix up and clean. As it was usual for him to take the weapon to shoot rats, and he had formerly been a gunmaker by trade, nothing was thought of him taking the gun down. A boy named Edward Kephardt, who saw him about that time, was called by Oestel, and he sent him to hardware a store to procure powder, caps and shot. The boy did as requested, but Oestel expressed himself as dissatisfied with the shot as being too small, and had them exchanged for buck-shot. No more was thought of this till the boy came home from school. It was usual for him to go to Oestel's room in the house or to the bake-house and whistle for him. He went about two o'clock, but received no response. He inquired for him of the family, but they said he was in the bake-house. The boy went in search of him and found him lying on the floor partly behind the stove. He whistled again, and getting no response, he went over to him and found he had shot himself, and was lying in a pool of clotted blood. He gave the alarm, when the Mayor was notified and then the Coroner. About half-past four o'clock a shot was heard in the bake-house, but it was thought Oestel had shot a rat as he had often done before. The suicide was very deliberately planned. He sat on a chair, placed the gun before him so that the muzzle lodged under his throat. He had fastened a string to the trigger and that again to his big toe. The charge entered and passed through the jugular vein diagonally through the neck and upward clear through his head, through the top, scattering his brains, the shot lodging in the ceiling. A verdict of death by suicide, while laboring under temporary insanity was rendered. Deceased was but 21 years of age and had been four years in this country, he being a native of Germany. He was employed by Mr. Lobb as a baker and for whom he had worked the past eight months. He is supposed to have relatives residing in Baltimore. As Oestel left no letters of explanation, no cause can be assigned for the rash act.

PITTSBURGH CONFERENCE.

Afternoon Session—Letters—Vote of Thanks—Last Day—Closing Exercises—Bishop's Address—Reading of the Appointments, &c.

Blairsville, Pa., Monday, March 23, 1874.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the Conference met, J. W. Baker in the Chair. Rev. W. A. Davidson conducted the religious service.

After the reading of the minutes a report from the Drew Theological Seminary was read, showing increasing prosperity. Over one hundred young men are now in attendance. Revs. J. Coil and J. L. Deens were appointed as a Visiting Committee to the institution.

A letter from Rev. J. T. Scott, one of our missionaries in India, was read. Revs. I. C. Pershing and W. F. Lauck were appointed to respond to said letter.

The report on the Ladies' and Pastors' Christian Union was made, which was adopted.

Rev. W. A. Davidson was elected President of this association, Rev. T. H. Wilkinson Secretary, and Mrs. N. C. Walker Corresponding Secretary.

Report on the state of the Church was adopted.

A report on the Tract cause was adopted. One also on Sunday Schools; one on the Bethel cause; one on the Bible cause.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the families in which the Conference was entertained; to the Committee of Arrangements; to the pastors who opened their pulpits to the Conference, and to the officers of Pennsylvania Railroad.

Tuesday Morning, March 24, 1874.

At 8 o'clock the Conference met. Edmund B. Snyder and G. A. Sheets were transferred to the Conference.

Edward M. Taylor, James B. Taylor, Taylor F. Phillips, John M. Righter, Charles B. Henthorn, W. F. Connor, E. Luckock, Lemuel H. Stewart, W. L. Stafford, and Leonidas H. Eaton were received on trial in the Conference.

Jared B. Wallace was located at his own request.

W. B. Grace was granted a superannuated relation; so also was Rev. H. Sinsabaugh, and Rev. E. A. Johnson a supernumerary relation.

Rev. J. D. Kinnear, one of the old men of the Conference, was superannuated, and his brethren showed their appreciation of him by raising a purse for him of $400. It was done with a will.

Examining Committees were announced; also Rev. W. P. Turner to preach the Annual Missionary Sermon.

A hymn was sung by all. Prayer offered by Dr. Hunter.

Bishop Foster then delivered to the conference an exceedingly appropriate address, after which the appointments were read, and the Conference adjourned.

A very pleasant incident occurred at the residence of Rev. H. Sinsabaugh on Monday evening. The preachers of his district, with a few other friends, met and bid him good bye before starting for his western home. Kind words were spoken by Revs. W. B. Watkins, I. C. Pershing, and by Bishop Foster, and a prayer was offered by Rev. W. A. Davidson. A purse was put into the hands of Bro. H. containing one hundred and thirty-two dollars.

The preachers of the Pittsburgh Conference will have pleasant memories of Blairsville.

The writer is under many obligations to the Rev. Mr. Collins, pastor of the U. P. Church, and his family in whose house he found a pleasant home.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.—The attractive drama of "The New Magdalen" was presented for the second time at the Opera House last evening, before a largely increased audience, showing a greater interest in the play. The element of the sensational is intentionally omitted in this dramatization of the novel, the characters represented being of the more earnest description, and brought out in the most forcible manner by the superior acting of Miss Annie Firmin and Mr. Jack in their representation of Mercy Merrick and Julian Grey. The performance throughout is highly creditable, alike to the stars and the entire company. The same piece will be performed to-night. Seats may be secured during the day.

Academy of Music.—The attractions of Carncross & Dixey's Minstrels, at the Academy of Music, are simply immense this week. The new programme consists of the most laughable burlesques, songs, &c., forming at once a very comical and agreeable entertainment, enjoyable in the highest degree. The whole troupe, as far as fun-making is concerned, understand their business thoroughly, which accounts for the large and appreciative audiences that nightly flock to the Academy of Music. This is positively the last week these Minstrels perform in this city, their engagements elsewhere precluding the possibility of remaining longer. Seats may be secured for each performance.

Italian Opera.—The sale of reserved seats for the two nights of Italian Opera, at Library Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next, will commence this morning at the music store of Messrs. H. Kleber & Bros. The indications are that the Hall will be perfectly jammed on both occasions, and those who intend going should early avail themselves of the opportunity to secure seats. The reputation of M'lle di Murska has too well preceded her to require any commendation from us. At every performance she is invariably called to the footlights times without number to receive the plaudits and presents of the audience; and M'lle. Sorel, whose name is not so familiar with our opera goers, has been equally honored wherever she has appeared.

School Exhibition.—The pupils of the Park School, Sixteenth ward, gave an entertainment last night that was very enjoyable. The programme consisted of declamation, orations, dialogues, agreeably interspersed with music, the whole forming a literary medley of an entertaining character. The young performers displayed considerable ability generally, and gave evidence of talent as well as training. A second entertainment of a similar character will be given to-night.

The Escaped Nun.—Elsewhere will be found the announcement of a lecture to be delivered in Library Hall by "the Escaped Nun," Edith O'Gorman. This lecture is said to be an entirely new one, at least to a Pittsburgh audience. It is for the benefit of ladies only, and for that reason the time has been fixed for three o'clock in the afternoon.

Pennsylvania Female College.—The annual musical entertainment at the Pennsylvania Female College will come off in the College Hall Thursday evening, March 26. The college is located on Fifth avenue, East End, and is within easy access for patrons and friends in the city, who are requested to be present. These entertainments heretofore have been of the most delightful character, and the prospects are that the prospective concert will not fall behind any of its predecessors.

STUDENTS' REUNION.

The School Boys of Westminster College—Association Organized Last Night.

A very pleasant and agreeable meeting of quite a number of the former students of Westminster College was held last night at Kinder Blair's confectionery parlors on Fifth avenue for the purpose of organizing an association, of which one of the main objects no doubt will be, to keep alive the friendships formed in college days. Westminster College is located at New Wilmington in Lawrence county, and the high position it occupies among the educational institutions of the land, is so well known as to make reference to it almost unnecessary. Rev. D. T. Jeffers is President. He has been in this city for a day or two, and was one of the prominent gentlemen present last night. On motion of Kennett McIntosh, Esq., the meeting was organized by electing Rev. John S. Sands President, Rev. D. M. Thorn Vice President, and Hon. Wm. McClelland Secretary and Treasurer. The following gentlemen sent their regrets at being unable to attend: N. W. Shafer, Esq., Rev. S. A. Taggart, Col. Jno. Glenn, W. K. Jenning, Esq., Major Wm. Frew, Rev. J. W. Bain, Rev. T. H. Hanna, Rev. F. A. Noble, Rev. Alex. Clark, and S. B. W. Gill, Esq. After the organization had been effected and preliminary business transacted, an hour or more was spent around the banquet table and none present permitted their interior arrangements to suffer for want of attention by them to the contents of the table. Although the supper was relished, it was quite evident that it was not so highly appreciated as the mental pabulum subsequently furnished in the shape of responses to toasts, which were as follows:

"Our Guests," Rev. D. T. Jeffers, D. D.; "Westminster College," Rev. Wm. A. Mehard; "The Clergy," Rev. D. M. Thorn; "The Law," Col. T. M. Bayne; "The Press," Col. Richard Realf; "The Ladies," Alex. McIntosh, Esq.

The responses, some eloquent and others humorous, referring to experiences, scenes and incidents of school life, were all highly applauded, and when the last speaker had ended the association adjourned.

Duryeas' "Satin Gloss Starch" and Duryeas' "Improved Corn Starch" is the best in the world. Use it once and you will use no other.

Milwaukee, June 15, 1872.—After using Duryeas' Starch in this public laundry for ten months, I can recommend it as being the whitest, strongest and most glossy starch I can purchase.

Lansing Bonnell,
Proprietor Newhall House.

THE STOMACH'S REVENGE.

The stomach cannot be maltreated with impunity. Overload it with food, irritate it with fiery liquors, impair its activity or vitiate its juices by any outrage on the laws of health, and it revenges itself through the liver, the bowels, the kidneys, the brain or the nervous system, and sometimes through all these organs simultaneously, or in succession. There is scarcely any variety of bodily or mental pain or discomfort which it does not inflict upon those who abuse and overtask its powers. Under these circumstances there is but one medicine to which the sufferer can resort to with the certainty of obtaining immediate and permanent relief. The most wholesome and genial of all stomachics and correctives, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters produces an immediate and most beneficent change in the condition of the patient. The whole digestive system is at once invigorated and soothed, the liver regulated and toned, and the bowels relieved of all obstructions, the spirits cheered, and the relaxed nerves strengthened and steadied.
